ABOUT US

We are a sanctuary and forever home for a variety of exotic animals. Most come from the illegal pet trade. Our job is to give them the best possible life in captivity while sharing their amazing attributes and superpowers with the public. Please know we are not a petting zoo, but a place of immersive observation that will tickle your wild side.

We discourage people from keeping exotic animals as pets. They are often kept in solitary confinement with insufficient diets and have seen the worst in humanity. We seek to undo the harm that has been done. Through proper care, space, and love from our staff and community we are giving them a new lease on life. Without Animal Tracks these animals would be destroyed. We rely on your support to give these animals their second chance.

OUR MISSION

We are committed to promoting conservation education by teaching our community about the dangerous impact humans have on wildlife. Through immersive education, we are spreading awareness of these dangers.

Bindi & Bailey are adoptive sisters. They were stolen from the wild as babies. With us they have a forever home, and each other.

STACY GUNDERSON

Owner & Executive Director

Stacy took over as Executive Director in 2008. Under her guidance Animal Tracks has rescued, or taken in well over 100 exotic animals. Many of those animals are from the illegal pet trade and have lived through horrible conditions or abuse. She knows each animal intimately, their personalities, likes and dislikes, but most importantly what each animal needs to thrive individually.

WITHOUT YOU

None of this is possible without your support. They need you, just as we do. Their survival starts with your generosity. We are working toward building a new, bigger, and advanced facility. This isn't possible without your help. I am truly grateful for every penny donated and every volunteer hour spent. Words cannot express my gratitude. Thank you!
